STAT

2. The Executive Seminar, required of all newly appointed members of the Senior Intelligence Service, focuses on executive leadership, including the qualities and competencies of successful leaders in government, industry, and education. We also view the Seminar as an opportunity for the new SIS officers to meet with senior leaders of the Agency in order to learn the latter's views on Agency directions and objectives as well as their expectations of these new officers. In this context, the views of the Director are, of course, of greatest importance.

3. I hope that you will be able to meet with members of the Seminar as I feel certain that they would benefit greatly from the opportunity to meet and exchange views with you on achievement of the goals you have set for this Agency.
